WILLIAM E. DODGE.

WILLIAM E. DODGE.

A PROPOSED MONUMENT—ABSTRACT OF HIS WILL. The project of erecting a monument, or statue, in this city, in memory of the late William E. Dodge, is being talked of smong merchants, bankers and others, and the state William E. Dodge, is being talked of smong merchants, bankers and others. At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday the subject was informally discussed by the members present. The matter will be formally brought up at the next meeting of the Chamber on March 1. A Tribune reporter talked with a number of prominent business men yesterday about the matter. Samuel Sican said: "I think very well of the idea, and should be glad to aid the movement. Mr. Dodge certainly deserved a monument of any one ever did. As a merchant, citizen and philanthropist he embodied qualities that every one honors. The proposition for a suitable memorial will be popularly supported, I am sure. As to what description of monument would be most suitable, I cannot give an opinion now, not having thought of it. It should certainly be a handsome one and one artistically worthy of its subject."

"We erect monuments to noets, generals and statesmen," said Morris K. Jesup, "and why should we not show to posterity that we appreciate such men as William E. Dodge as well as men who have won fame in other spheres than his? Who is there better worthy of a mouument? I, for one, am heartily in favor of the proposition."

F. H. Cossit said that he thought the project an excellent one, though be could not, by reason of his connection with the Dodge family, take an active part in it. He was glad that the Chamber of Commerce was to move in the matter, as then it would be a success at the outset. George Wilson, the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said that he thought a popular subscription would be glad to give small sums. The public generally would also desire to contribute."

The following statement of the contents of the will of Mr. Dodge was left yesterday at the Surrogate's office: Pre A PROPOSED MONUMENT-ABSTRACT OF HIS WILL.

ELEVEN POLICEMEN FOR EACH BURGLAR.

A servant girl employed in the house of Hugh Freel, who keeps a pawnshop, over which he lives, at New-Chambers and Pearl-sts. was awakened early yesterday morning by the noise of pounding in the cellar, as she thought. She hastily roused Mr. Freel. He hastened down stairs, pistol in hand, and found that two burglars were at work taking out bricks in the wall that separates his back shop from a lumber-yard. They had already reached the inside plastering and were carefully chipping it away. Mr. Freel stood guard ready to "blow off the first head that came through the nole," as he said, and the servant girl ran for an officer. She brought three with her, and in a few moments there were twenty others on the scene. By the time the burglars discovered their prodicament, every way of escape to the street was blocked. They tried first one exit and then another, and at last dodged around among the lumber piles and jumped over a back fence with a hall dozen policement at their heels. The trail of the theves was lost for some time amid the intricacies of several rear yards, but it was finally found that they had gone up a fire-scape on a house in New Chambers-st. They were tracked over a half-dozen housetops and were found at last trying to open the scuttie of a house on William-st. They were arrested by Derective, Canovan and Clarker and were lodged in the Oak Street Police Station for the might. Several knives and pistols were found on them. They said that their names were Richard Hart, age thirty, and William Clark, are fifty.

In the morning they were taken at first to Police Headquarters and were identified as "professional burglars." They were afterward arraigned before Justice White, in the forms Police Court, and were committed by him without bail. They said that they were after jewelry worth $8,000, which was deposited in Mr. Freel's safe. They left a new set of barglar's tools where they were working. ELEVEN POLICEMEN FOR EACH BURGLAR

The agents characterize the joint agency as an arbitrary measure of Commissioner Fink. It excludes all other gloads and outside agencies from the sale of immigrant passage tickets, and prohioits any other than immigrants purchasing tickets through the joint agency, or travelling at immigrant rates. The agents are not willing that the four companies should have the right to exclusive privileges at Castle Garden. They are also opposed to compelling others than immigrants to pay second-class rates for third class accommodations. REGISTER'S OFFICE NOTES.

An instrument was placed on record in the Register's Office yesterday, whereby, Theophilus Youngs, who figured so conspicuously in the Youngs will contest, ratified a deed which he made to his brother, Henry Youngs, some years ago, and by which he for $2.216 15 granted him all his interest in the estate of his deceased unele, Henry Youngs. The document recites that it is made because of a question having arisen as to the validity of the transaction which it confirms, because of Henry Youngs being an executor and trustee under the will. It is stated that the drawer takes this step, moved by a sense of justice, and for the purpose of vindicating his brother in connection with the transaction, because of its having been stated that it was brought about by fraud. Theophilus Youngs declares that at the time of the execution of the deed in question, he was fully acquainted with the provisions of his uncie's will and those clauses of it relating to him. He agreed to the transactions because of his unwillingness to await the final determination of the matter.

William H. Vanderbilt, and other owners of property in Bowling Green, have obtained from the city a release from conditions under which the lands were formerly acquired. Under these they were prohibited from building to a greater height than their neighbors.

CONTRACTORS AND WORKMEN AT ODDS Some time ago building contractors in Harlem had a quarrel with the union of derrick workmen. They alieged that the union was barsh and exacting; that when they needed men they could not always get them; and that often they were compelled to pay for the services of men they had not employed. They resolved, therefore, to employ no more union men. The consequence has been that ever since then, in spite of the most careful watching, the contractor's derricks have been until add frequently at might. Arests of suspected ful watching, the contractor's derricks have been mutilated frequently at night. Arrests of suspected persons have been made occasionally, but altogether considerable money has been spent, without securing a conviction. On Saturday night, two police officers came upon two men who had cut all the ropes of a derrick at One-Hundred-and-twenty-sixth-st, and Fifth-ave., where James Meagher is putting up some buildings, and sought to arrest them; but after an exciting chase, the men escaped, A saw and a bottle of muriatic acid were found near the spot.

Later Officer Jacoby arrested a man in a Onehundred-and-twenty-fifth-st. car. who, he thought resembled one of the men that had escaped. The prisoner gave the name of Bryan Flanagan, a derrick laborer of No. 406 East Sixtieth-st., and pleaded not guilty when taken to the Harlem Police Court. At the hearing which was given to him yesterday he was discharged. Extra vigilance will be observed by the contractors in the hope that any further attempts to destroy their property may be frustrated.

TRAINING THE LIFE-SAVING CORPS. Six firemen who have volunteered to become members of the Life-Saving Corps, were put through an initiatory didd at the engine house at Tenth-ave, and Ninety-second-st., yesterday. They are hithe, active men, each one of whom has made a record of bravery in the department, and all are experienced firemen. Their drill-master was C. Hoell, a member of the St. Louis Fire Department, and the inventor of the Salara-Jadder to be used by record of bravery in the department, and all are experienced firemen. Their drill-master was C. Hotell, a member of the St. Louis Fire Department, and the inventor of the scaling-ladder to be used by the corps. The ladder is a lackory pole, lifteen or twenty feet long, bound with iron; rings are inserted at intervals of a foot, and a long iron hook is lastened to one end of the pole. Standing on the street pavement the hooked end may be thrust through a window on the second floor. The claw of the hook clars to the inner side of the windowsill, and the teeth on the under side of the windowsill, and the teeth on the under side of the windowsill, and the teeth on the under side of the hook sink firmly into the woodwork, forming a ladder to the budder and adjust it to the window of the floor above, or a second ladder may be handed to him for that purpose. The ladders are light, weighing only twenty-five pounds. In this manner a fireman can ascend to the roof of any building. Half a dozen of these ladders will be attached to each truck, and they can be adjusted in a moment's time to any part of a building. The fireman will be equipped with an axe, spikes and rope, and all that is necessary besides is coolness and presence of mind in an emergency.

"I only put the men through the calisthenies first," said Mr. Hoell to a Tribune reporter, "and show them how to handle the ladders. By the end of the week I will let them climb one story, then in a couple of weeks more they will be able to climb anything, and I will bring them down-town and show you how they can climb your ten-story buildings. They could climb to the roof of The Babure building with those ladders, or to the top of Trinity Church steeple, if there were windows in it to hook in. If there had been half a dozen of those ladders at the Milwaukee fire, or at the fire of The Borld building in New-York, every person could have been saved who reached a window. The only danger to the firemen of the corps will be from exposure to the smoke, but the men will work in

THIEVES FOILED BY A PLUCKY BOY.

Harrington & Goodwin, dealers in tailors' trimmings, occupy the second floor of the building at No. 82 University-place. Ab ut 8 o'clock on Saturday morning, Andrew I. Malloy, a seventeen-year-old boy in their employment, unlocked the front door leading into the building, and was about to enter when two men approached. They ran up stairs with the remark that the place was botter protected against burglars than Rontey's in Broadway. The boy followed the men up stairs, where he was asked to show them some samples of silk. One of the men tried to conceal a piece of silk, valued at $51, in his rocket. The boy ordered the man to replace the goods on the counter.

"Yes," said the boy, "but you must not put it in your pocket." THIEVES FOILED BY A PLUCKY BOY.

"Yes," said the boy, "but you must not put it in your pocket."

Both men then started toward the door, closely followed by the boy, who seized one of them. The man struck him and threw him off. Again the boy seized him, but was repulsed. The lad then seized an axe, but before he could use it, the fellows escaped. They were arrested later. In the police station they were recognized as John Johnson, alias "French Charlie," an ex-convict; and James Maberly, alias "MeGrath," who recently served a term in the Boston penitentary. While in his cell Maberly cut off a pair of flowing side whiskers with a blunt pocket knife. In the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday, his face was marked and bleeding. Justice Duffy held both prisoners for trial.

MR. KINSELLA'S POSITION.

MR. KINSELLA'S POSITION.

It was made known yesterday in Brooklyn that the proposed purchase of The brooklyn Union-Argus by Thomas Kinsella and William Hester, respectively editor and publisher of The Brooklyn Eagle, would not be consummated, although the sum of $19,000 had been paid to bind the bargain. The larger part of the stock of The Eagle is held by the firm of Kingsley & Keeney and by William Van Anden. It was on the refusal of Mr. Kingsley to part with any of his stock that Messrs, Kinsella and Hester arranged for the purchase of The Union, in order to use the threat of "geing across the street" to bring the other stockholders to terms. The latter found that the change would prove disadvantageous to their paper, and it was decided on Saturday to accede to the demands of the editor.

It was reported yesterday that The Union-Argus would not go back into the hands of its former owners, but would be bought by some Republican politicians of Brooklyn.

CAUGHT BY A REGISTERED LETTER.

Complaint was recently made to Postmaster Pearson by Samuel W. Clark, of Warwick, R. I., that he had received from this city a circular signed J. H. Jewell offering special facilities for buying lottery tickets. The complaint was referred to Post Office Inspector Newcome, and Clark was requested to answer Jewell's communication favorably and to send a registered letter containing money to No. 21 Park row, the address that was given. The letter was received there, a notice was left for Jewell, and yesterday a man called for the registered letter. He was arrested, but said that his name was Sherry, and that he was only acting in behalf of Jewell. He said that the latter was to be found in a liquor store in Fulton-st. Jewell was arrested there, and his real name was given as E. N. Carr. He was taken before commissioner Shields, and waiving examination, was held in $1,000 to await the action of the Grand Jury.

ACCUSED OF FRAUD CAUGHT BY A REGISTERED LETTER.

ACCUSED OF FRAUD.

ACCUSED OF FRAUD.

James M. Tuttle has begun a suit before Judge Freedman, of the Superior Court, against Richard P. Rothwell, on a charge of fraud. He states that in 1880 Rothwell was engaged in organizing the "Canada Consolidated Gold Mining Company." Tuttle had 749 shares of the Gatling Gold and Silver Mining Company. The property of this company was acquired by the Canada Company, the latter agreeing to pay $100,000 for it. Tuttle was to receive 10,700 shares in payment for his shares in the Gatling Company. It was understood that Rothwell should go to Europe and dispose of a certain amount of the Canada Company stock at 80 cents per share. It is alleged that he sold a considerable number of shares at $150 a share, but has failed to pay Tuttle anything. The complamant declares that the price agreed on for his shares was $7,490. Rothwell was taken into custody on an order of arrest issued by Judge Freedman, and he gave $8,000 bail.

LAW AND ORDER IN QUEENS COUNTY. LAW AND ORDER IN QUEENS COUNTY.

A meeting of delegates from the law and order organization of the towns of Queens county, was held at the Town Hall in Jamaica, yesterday afternoon, to take measures to form a county organization. About forty persons were present, representing the associations at Long Island City, Gien Cove, Newtown, Oyster Bay, Locust Vailey and Jamaica. The Rev. Lewis Lampman, of Jamaica, was chosen temporary chairman and Joseph Valentine, of Locust Vailey, secretary. The society will be known as the Queens County Law and Order Association. The capital stock is to be $700, $100 for each town. F. H. Wolcott, of Astoria, was elected president; Isana C. Hendrickson, of Jamaica, vice president; J. H. Proil, of Newtown. secretary, and William Dykes, of Jamaica, treasurer. The president is to issue an address to the residents of Queens County.

The New-York Society for the Prevention of Crueity to Children has issued its eighth annual report. In the president's address he speaks of the importance of the hospital for contagious diseases, which was asked for "in consequence of the ventilation by the society of the so called 'Van Eiten Intant Asylue' at No. 21 University-place during the past year." There is still a mortgage on the society's building at No. 100 East Twenty-third-st. of $25,000. Two vice-presidents died last year—Frederic de Peyster and Robert L. Stuart. The expenses were $16,982.78 and the receipts $16,615 48. During the year 1,035 cases were prosecuted, 1,009 convictions secured, and 1,853 children placed in homes or institutions. DR HOUGHTON'S FAITH IN MEN UNSHAKEN.

No new discoveries were made vesterday with regard to the robbery at the Courch of the Transfiguration on Saturday might. Dr. Houghton said to a Tribune reference vesterday that attegether there were five pieces of silver belonging to the communion service missing, and while he thought $750 was too small an estimate of their value, the total loss would not exceed $1,000. He admits very sorrowfully that probably the robbers were well acquainted with the place, but he refuses to cast suspicion noon anybody. The work was done in a very lungling fashion, for while everything was seemingly turned matches and drops of candle-grease were scatered all over the floor, the greater part of the communion service although within easy reach, was not discovered. Dr. Houghton still has hopes that the property may be restored to him through some third person. "If it be true." he says, "that I have been robbed by one whom I have befriended, it is a pitiful exhibition of the weakness of human nature but I am so constantly furnished with exhibitions of a contrary character that my faith in the better side of men is unshaken."

Capitain Williams, of the Twenty-ninth Precinct, said that he had very little hope of being able to capture the thieves, as there was positively no clew to them. Throughout the day friends continued to call on Dr. Houghton to express their sympathy with him at his loss.

DEATH OF DANIEL LEON, THE DWARF.

DEATH OF DANIEL LEON, THE DWARF. DEATH OF DANIEL LEON, THE DWARF.

Daniel Leon, age thirty-one, died yesterday at Bellevne Hospital or consumption. He was only three feet seven inches in height, and his thin little body, as it lay stretched out in the Morgue, seemed that of a child. The face, however, was that of a man, wan and care sorn. Leon, who previous to his last sickness, used to live at No. 2 Pell-st., was for a long time a familiar figure about City Hall Park, He was known to most of the prominent men who passed through it, and his absence from his old haunts has been marked. There is a popular belief that the little dwarf had some rich relatives, but nobody has appeared at the hospital to claim kinship or acquaintanceship with him. If friends do not appear in a day or two his body will be buried in the Potter's Field.

STEAM CARS ON THE WEST SIDE.

A committee from the West Side Citizens' Association called yesterday on the Mayor and asked him to use his influence to compel the removal of the cars which constantly stand in West Canal and Hudson-sts., and to prevent the running of dummies and freight cars in Tenth-ave, and the streets mentioned. They presented a petition signed by over 5,000 residents of the West Side, setting forth the damage that had been done to property by the misances complained of. J. E. Wade said that the railroad company might have a depot at the foot of Canai-st., and St. John's Park depot could be used as a public market. The Mayor promised to give the matter his attention. DISTURBANCE AT THE ATLANTIC GARDEN.
William Shaw, aged thirty-one, of Brooklyn, who says that he is a night-watchman, was charged before Justice White yesterday, at the Tombs Police Court, with feloniously assaulting George Davis, sr., detective at the Atlantic Garden, on Sunday afternoon. Davis tried to put Shaw out of the vestibule of the garden, where he was found loitering for improper purposes, and the latter stabbed him in the arm with a knife. Shaw was also charged with an assault on Davis's son when he went to the assistance of his father. The prisoner was committed for trial on each charge in default of $1,500 bath.

THE POWER OF MES. M'MOLLUN'S IMAGINATION.
Mrs. McMollun, who lives in Second-ave., between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourthests., wrote to the Board of Health recently that the bodies of two fowls had been hanging on a Christmas tree in the rear of a butter store adjoining her home ever since Christmas. Judging by the odor, she thought that the fowls were badly decomposed. Policeman Van Zandt, of the Sanitary Sanad, reported yesterday that he found on the Christmas tree only the skins of two Guinea fowls, stuffed with sawdust. They had been used as a sign.

PRAISE OF MR. DODGE AND MR. MORGAN.
The monthly meeting of the Executive Committee of the American Tract Society was held yesterday afterneon. The Rev. Dr. Jesse B. Thomas presided. Grants of books, papers and tracts, amounting to 4,000,000 pages, were approved, and resolutions in regard to the death of William E. Dodge and ex-Governor Morgan, both vice-presidents of the society, were adopted. Regarding Mr. Dodge it was stated that "half a century ago he was a frequent visitor at the counter of the Iract Society, replenishing his supply of tracts and books. It is believed that few ministers of the Gospel have performed more evangelistic work out of the pulpit than he."

THE TRIAL OF GEORGE JAMES RICE.

The case of George James Rice, the ex-president of the Unca, Ithaca and Elmira Railway, was set down for trial vesterday in the Court of General Seasions. Assistant District Attorney O'Byrne stated that there were over thirty witnesses in the House of Detention and 100 prisoners in the Tombs awaiting trial, and he did not think that it would be just to occupy the time of the Court for a week in the trial of the Rice case. He therefore moved that it be transferred to the Court of Oyer and Terminer. The transfer was accordingly made by Judge Cowing and the issue was set down for next Monday before Judge Barrett. A RECEPTION FOR FIFTY CHINAMEN.

A reception was given to the Chinese connected with the Sunday-school of the Spring Street Presbyterian Church last evening. Fifty Chinamen, neatly dressed and wearing upon their faces the usual placid smile, were present. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music by the Misses Willie, Marshall, Coincil, Rodgers and Jennings; recitations by Watter Pulnam and Fannie Dumont, and addresses in Chinese by the Rev. Mr. Spear, a returned missionary, and Quong Ling. Hop Lee and Quong Ling sang a song in Chinese, the former playing the accompaniment upon the plane.

Matthew Ryan was tried yesterday in the Court of Sessions for manslaughter in the first degree in causing the death of Patrick McNuity, in a quarrel on December 24,1882, at North Seventh and Fourth sts. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

A suit to recover $20,000 has been brought by Thomas McCarthy against the Central Refining Company, of which Henry Fleming is president. It is a heged that the plaintiff iell into a hole full of boiling hot water on the defendant's premises by the earth giving way over it, and was severely scalded.

The Aldermen recently appointed a hatter named Joseph Morgan to the position of farmer at the Truant Home. He found that farming was different from blocking hats and resigned. The Board then selected one Peter Dufty, who is a good Democrat, but who knows more of farming our jobs than of agriculture, for Mayor Low yesterday vectoed his appointment on the ground that he could not learn that Dufty had had any experience fitting him for a farmer's work.

A sait to recover $25,000 as damages for personal injuries, brought by Miss Emma Bass, organist in the Church of the Pilgrims, against Memoras Espenseheid, jr., came to trial yesterday in the City Court. The plaintiff alleged that she was knocked down by the horse radical by the piaintiff, at Clinton and Montague sts., on June 7, 1882, and had since suffered from netwous shock. The decendant testified that the accident was not caused by his negict.

A proposition has been made to erect a bust of the late Judge John A. Lott in the town of Flatbush, L. L., of which he was a resident. It is thought that for $5,000 an appropriate bust and peucestal can be put up. The site proposed is the triangular green at the intersection of East New-York-ave, with Flatbush and Washington aves., just beyond the Brooklyn City line. Mr. Evarts has signified his willingness to deliver a lecture in the Brooklyn Academy of Music, the proceeds of which will be added to the fund for the erection of the bust.

Police Commissioners Powell and Sutter, of New-Lots, were removed from office on Saturday by Supervisor Jewell and Justice Gertum. The removal was for political reasons, and was hastened by the efforts of the Commissioners to promote a bill before the Legislature defining their terms and fixing them at five years. John 11. Bergen, Independent, and Adolph Keindl, Republican, were appointed to the vacancies. The former Commissioners refused to give up the office, and the matter will go before the courts. The Town Board met yesterday and ratified the action of the Supervisor and Justice.

The principals and heads of departments in the public schools, who are the best paid of the teachers of the city, have united in a petition to the Board of Education to put their salaries back to the figures at which they were in 1578. It is claimed that the amount of the State appropriation in excess of the estimates will cover the increased expense, and this money can only be applied to teachers' wages. The Board will probably take up to-day a resolution providing for the increase, which was laid on the table in June, 1882. At the same meeting it is proposed to reance the salaries of primary teachers who have served one year.

The burglar-alarm in Kessler's men's furnishing store, No. 12 Newark-ave., went off at an early hour yesterday morning and soon afterwards four officers were at the place. One of them, Josh fryatt, went to the rear of the store, while the other three remained on guard in front. Officer Hyart found the rear door open, and as he was entering the store two men rushed out, knocking him down and making their escape. Later in the morning Thomas Maliox, who has several times been arrested for burglary, was arrested on suspicion of being one of the burglars.

PATERSON.—The members of the Feuian Brotherhood at Paterson. N. J., are engaged in a movement to raise funds for the legal defence of the men under arrest as implicated in the Phoenix Park murders and other plots in Ireland. The Paterson Fenians profess to condemn assassination and to desire only a fair chance for the accused men. Resolutions in furtherance of their sympathetic design were adopted and sent by them to the Land League in Paterson. That body, however, at its meeting on Sunday, did not choose to adopt the views of the Fenians, but laid the resolutions on the table for future consideration.
